Public Sale.

THE subscriber, by virtue of a deed of trust to him from Mr. William Hodgson, dated on the 10th day of November, in the year 1808 for the purpose of indemnifying Mr. John Hopkins—will, on FRIDAY, the 20th April next, at the hour of twelve o'clock of that day, if fair; if not, on the next fair day at the same hour, proceed to sell, at the court-house, in Alexandria, at public auction, to the highest bidder, for ready money three thousand acres of LAND, situate on the left fork of Big Sandy Creek, which land was, at the time of the grants for the same, in the county of Monongalia, in the state of Virginia.

The above tracts of land were granted by the state of Virginia, to John Allison by three several patents containing respectively one thousand acres, and bearing date on the first day of October, 1784, which land has been since duly conveyed to the said William Hodgson by deed dated 2d of August, 1790.

February 24. 3w

On Wednesday last, Mr. Epps, from the committee of ways and means, laid before the House of Representatives, the following documents, which were ordered to be printed.

January 8, 1810.

SIR,

HAVING stated in your several reports that loans would constitute the principal resource of the United States for defraying extraordinary expences, the committee of ways and means have instructed me to request, that you will report your opinion as to the more eligible mode of obtaining money by loan—keeping in view both the facility of borrowing sums commensurate with the exigencies of the U States and the ultimate extinguishment of the debt contracted.

You have already given your opinion in favor of an increase of duties on importation. To what extent can this be carried with safety? Can any other resources except taxes and loans be relied on for immediate revenue?

I have the honor to be,
With respect,
Your most obedient,
JOHN W. EPPES.

Albert Gallatin, Esq.
Secretary of the Treasury.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
February 26, 1810.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to submit the following observations in answer to the several objects of enquiry embraced by your letter of the 8th ultimo. The amount of extraordinary expences which may be authorized by Congress being yet unascertained, it is not even practical to state with precision the sum which may be wanted on loan for the service of this year. And in relation to ensuing years, it would be premature to lay down any general rules respecting the most eligible mode of borrowing sums of money, commensurate with the exigencies of the United States in case of war. It is therefore thought sufficient for the present to point out some of the most obvious means of effecting loans generally; leaving it a subject of consequent consideration to decide according to existing circumstances on the most eligible mode, and on the arrangement of details.

The enquiries of the committee of ways and means apply to the three following points: 1st. What is the most eligible mode of obtaining money by loans, keeping in view both the facility of borrowing sums commensurate with the exigencies of the United States, and the ultimate extinguishment of the debt contracted? 2dly. To what extent can an increase of duties on importation be carried with safety? 3dly. Can any other resources besides taxes and loans be relied on for immediate revenue?

Loans.

1st. The commissioners of the sinking fund will, out of the annual appropriation of eight millions of dollars for the payment of the debt, reimburse, in 1810, the residue of the exchanged six per cent. stock, amounting to 3,750,000 dollars, and in 1811, the whole of the converted six per cent. stock, amounting to 1,860,000 dollars. It is probable that the owners of those two species of stock would consent to re-loan the amount, provided it was irredeemable for a few years.

2dly. It has already been stated in the annual report of November 5th 1807, referred to in that of this year, "that the several banks of the United States might find it convenient as the diminished commerce of the country might require less capital, to loan to government a considerable portion of their capital stock, then computed at about forty millions of dollars." Such temporary loans can be obtained only to a limitted amount; but they are convenient in two respects: 1st. They do not diminish the facility of obtaining other loans from individuals, inasmuch as they do not increase the amount of stock or market: 2dly. Being redeemable at will, and in any sums which may suit the inconvenience of government, interest is paid only as long as the money is wanted; and the extinguishment of the debt contracted is rendered more easy and certain.

3d. Loans may be obtained from individuals to an extent commensurate with the national capital, and limited by the existing demand for that capital for private purposes. The terms must vary according to circumstances, always giving the preference to the most simple form that can effect the object. A portion of the public lands may perhaps, if necessary, either as a premium or by giving an option to subscribers, be advantageously applied in facilitating loans or improving their terms.

Treasury notes, bearing interest & payable to order, one year after date, may be annually issued to a moderate amount, and be put in circulation both through the medium of banks, and in payment of supplies. A portion would be absorbed during the year by the payment of public lands and revenue bonds, and the redemption of the residue be provided for by the loan of the ensuing year. This annual anticipation of the revenue, though liable to abuse, may, if kept within strict bounds, facilitate both the collection of the revenue and the loans themselves.

In relation to the extinguishment of the debt contracted, those who borrow can do nothing more than to provide and pledge sums sufficient for that object, and to give such a form to the debt as may not impede its redemption. To render it irredeemable for no longer time than is necessary, in order to obtain the money; to make it reimburseable by instalments at fixed periods; never to create for the sake of diminishing the annual interest, a greater nominal amount of stock than the sum actually borrowed, and above all never to incur expences which are not actually necessary for the defence or welfare of the country, are principles essential for a nation which does not contemplate a system of perpetual and increasing debt. But for its actual reimbursement we must principally depend on the return of prosperous circumstances, on the growing resources of the country, and on the wisdom of our successors. The artificial provisions of a sinking fund may always be rendered inefficient by the necessities or extravagance of government. The real amount of a national debt cannot be diminished unless the aggregate of revenue including the funds assigned to the sinking fund, and exclusively of new loans, exceeds the aggregate of expenditures, other than those for the payment of the principal of the debt. Favorable circumstances, and a rigid economy in the current expences have enabled the U. States to reimburse during the last eight years, one half of the debt created by the revolutionary war, and during some of the ensuing year. Similar circumstances, and an adherence to the same principles will be requisite to secure the actual reimbursement of the debt which it may now be necessary to contract. But that government will possess resources amply sufficient for that object, cannot be doubted. The proceeds of the public lands would alone slowly perhaps, but certainly extinguish a much greater debt than the United States have it now in their power to create. And it is sufficiently ascertained that the national wealth of the United States, and therefore the means of raising revenue increase in a ratio still more rapid than their population which almost doubles every twenty years.

Those considerations, connected with others stated at large in the annual reports of Nov. 1806 and Dec. 1808, have produced a conviction that loans might without danger be resorted to as the principal resource for supporting a war. Permit me at the same time to observe, that the suggestion has been confined to that object alone, and that, excepting the case of war, either immediate or contemplated, it appears consistent with sound policy to raise during the year the means of defraying all the national expences, borrowing no larger sum than the amount of principal of old debt paid during the year. The propriety for providing, even in time of war, a revenue equal to the annual expences on a peace establishment, the interest of the existing debt, and that on the loans which may be raised, has also been suggested in former reports.

Increase of Duties.

On that subject, but little can be added to the opinions expressed on former occasions. I still think that this source of revenue is in the United States, and at this time the most productive, and easiest to collect, the least burthensome to the great mass of the people; and that the duties on importations generally may, in case of war, be doubled without inconvenience or danger.

In time of peace, and particularly under existing circumstances, habits of smuggling might be promoted by so great an encrease. But the precise rate which may with safety be adopted can only be a matter of opinion to be tested by experience.—I would not hesitate however to mention an additional duty of five per cent on merchandize paying ad valorem duties, and an encrease of 33 1-3 per cent on the existing duties on all other articles, as attended with very little danger, and preferable to any other new source of taxation. A renewal of the duty on salt, which produced six hundred thousand dollars a year, may be exceptionable in other respects, but on account of the bulk of the article, is liable to no objection in the present view of the subject.

It was stated in the annual report of December last that an encrease of duties would not, on account of the terms of credit allowed for the payment of duties, supersede the necessity of a loan for the service of this year. The amount of that loan might of course be diminished, if no credit, or a credit of only sixty days was allowed for the payment of the proposed additional duties.

Public Lands.

These constitute the only great national resource exclusively of loans and taxes.—They have already been mentioned as forming a fund for the ultimate extinguishment of the public debt; and the possibility of their being used as a means of facilitating loans has been suggested. A portion might also be usefully applied as a bounty to officers and soldiers whenever it may become necessary to raise a considerable force.—But as an object of immediate revenue, I much doubt whether this can be materially encreased without a radical change in the present system.

Not less than ten land offices are now in full operation, offering a great choice of good lands, situated in various climates, and suited to the habits of the citizens of every portion of the Union. They are sold at the rate of two dollars per acre, or rather at one dollar and sixty four cents, if paid for at the time of purchase, & in tracts of one hundred and six y acres. As much is sold as there is actual demand for land in similar situations at that price. The sales are however almost exclusively confined to those who are or intend to become actual settlers, and all the money which can be raised by that description of purchasers is annually paid to the United States. In order to encrease immediately the amount of sales, a different capital from that which has heretofore been applied to that object, the capital of persons who will purchase for the purpose of selling again with a profit, must be brought into action. But it is evident that no person will purchase lands at the present price as an object of speculation, whilst the United States continue to sell at the same price in small tracts. To effect the proposed object, it would be necessary not only to reduce the price, but to make a difference between that of lands sold in large tracts, and that asked for small tracts sufficient to encourage purchasers on an extensive scale. That alteration might produce an additional revenue but appears to me extremely injurious in other respects. The present system of sales has been tried, and answers the expectations of the legislature. A gradual encrease must, notwithstanding some temporary fluctuations, necessarily take place. On that I would rely; nor would I venture to suggest any other change than that already proposed on a former occasion, a moderate and general reduction of prices, discontinuing at the same time all sales on credit, but continuing to sell at the same rate large or small tracts of land.

I have the honor to be,
Very respectfully,
Sir, your obedient servant,
ALBERT GALLATIN.

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE subscriber, after a lapse of time necessarily consumed in the preparation of his house, respectfully announces to the citizens of Alexandria, as well as the community at large, that he has taken for a term of years that noted and eligible establishment known by the name of the CITY HOTEL, and once occupied by Mr. Gadsby, whose distinguished abilities as a Publican gave it an eclat which the subscriber hopes to preserve by his unremitted exertions in affording to all those who may confer on him the favor of their patronage, genteel and comfortable accommodations. The subscriber deems it unnecessary to indicate the multiplicity of conveniences attached to the City Hotel, and will only submit a description to that portion of travellers who have so generally attested its numerous advantages.

MONDAY, MARCH 26.

Captain Haskell, who has arrived at Newburyport left Valencia, [Spain] January 5, informs, that the French army had been near that place, but had taken another course.—The people, however, apprehended that they should be subdued. The French have published an official account of the surrender of Gerona; but many are yet incredulous as to the fact. In the account of taking possession of the suburbs, the official relation says,—"ALL THE SPANIARDS, found with arms in their hands, were put to death!"

The French Expose says "It was France who established the Independence of the U. States." Thus the efforts of the American citizens are not considered as any thing. If the proud assertion were true, what claim on our gratitude has Bonaparte. Louis XVI. who was destroyed by the French, directed what France should do in our revolution—even the people then, as now, had no voice: what the monarch ordered or forbade, was done or denied. Bonaparte talks of "adding several provinces to us." We know of but one province, (Louisiana) we paid 15,000,000 of dollars (the full value) for it, and shall be glad to hold it, without disturbance as to the boundaries or any other cause. We hope he does not conceit he has any demand on our gratitude for selling us Louisiana! If so, we must tax his gratitude for the cash paid. Phil. paper.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the U. States:

I lay before congress a return of the militia of the U. States as received by the department of war from the several states and territories.

THE KING OF SWEDEN.

The events that have recently occurred at Paris, the length and importance of the details connected with them, and the documents relative to our negociation with America, have prevented us from paying earlier attention than we intended to a subject of the deepest interest. It is known that this gallant monarch has been sent with his family to Stralsund, from whence he is to be conveyed to France. Bonaparte having stipulated with Sweden, that the deposed monarch shall have an asylum in his territories—What must we think of Bonaparte in making this stipulation, and of Sweden in consenting to it? Bonaparte is well aware of the deep suspicion that attaches to him—that he is known and recorded murderer—and that at this moment the souls of a murdered Conde, of Pichegru and of Palm, of Touissaint and of Wright, are pleading against him at the Bar of Heaven. He knows that if the gallant Gustavus should ever die a natural death during his residence in France, the world will never believe but that he has fallen a victim to that deadly vengeance & hate he bears him. What then can be his wish for desiring to have him in his power? It must have been dictated by that savage assassin like principles that belongs to him; that is interwoven in his nature, & desires to have within its reach & revenge every object that is obnoxious to it. He loves to triumph over as well as to torture his victims. It is not enough for him to deprive them of their power: he must insult them in their distress; he must mock them in their misery; he must tread upon them when they are fallen. If any thing can add to the agony which Gustavus feels, it must be to pass the remainder of his days in France, to breathe, as it were, only by the permission of his mortal enemy. But the indignation at the conduct of Bonaparte in demanding the surrender of Gustavus, is slight in comparison with that we feel at the baseness and treachery that could induce his countrymen to consent to it. Stand forth thou foremost in the guilt, pre-eminent, unimitated, inimitable! the chosen guardian of his infancy, chosen by his murdered father in the last agonies, the sworn counsellor of his youth, the pledged defender of his crown, the foul usurper of his throne! To have robbed him of his rights, to have consented to his deposition to have applauded his imprisonment, and to have excluded his son from the right of succession, in favor of an alien—a stranger, whose only recommendation is, that he has been selected by the despoiler and deadly enemy of Sweden; was not enough. No; the treason could not be complete, the tyrant could not be perfect; the cruelty would not been unparalleled, had not the gallant victim been given up to the vengeance of Bonaparte, to perish perhaps where a Conde met his fate, or die a lingering death where Pichegru was burnt by a slow fire, or Wright was strangled.

All pity for Sweden, all respect, all attachment to her are at an end. The attrocity of this one act cansels every favorable sentiment, and makes every man her foe. It is an act which the history of no country has surpassed, or even equalled. To purchase a doubtful security she has incurred an eternal reproach; she has brought a short respite and repose with the blood of her king; she has obtained an inglorious peace by the surrender of the body of her sovereign, to be insulted, mangled, and tortured by his deadliest enemy.

Loyalty and patriotism, pity for fallen greatness, sympathy for unmerited sufferings, sensibility to the distresses of the beautiful and virtuous consort of the expatriated monarch, whose bosom no ray of hope cheers and of her innocent offspring, about to be placed in the Tyger's power; every feeling that gives a grace or a dignity to our common nature, were outraged and immolated by that act of unequalled cruelty and crime; the surrender of the king of Sweden into the hands of Bonaparte.

VERSES,

Written by the late JOHN THORNTON, Esq. a short time before his death, on receiving a mourning ring for a relation of his name.

WELCOME thou presage of my certain doom!
I too must sink into the darksome tomb,
Yes, little prophet, thus my name shall stand
A mournful record on some friendly hand,
My name! 'tis here, the characters agree,
And every faithful letter speaks to me;
Bids me prepare to meet my nature's foe,
Serene to feel the monster's fatal blow;
Without a sigh to quit the joys of time,
Secure of glory in a happier clime:
Then mount the skies, forsake my old abode,
And gain the plaudits of a smiling God.
Recieve, Lord Jesus! body, soul and spirit!
Behold my plea!—thy sufferings and thy merit.

Congress of the United States.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

FRIDAY March 23.
[CONCLUDED.]

[Taken for the Alexandria Gazette.]

The bill for the relief of capt. Barney, was reported to the house, and ordered to a third reading to-morrow.

SATURDAY, March 24.

No quorum appearing at the usual hour of meeting, a motion for adjournment was made. The question was taken by ayes & noes, and stood, ayes 28, noes 29; another motion was immediately made to adjourn, ayes 27, noes 49.

The house then proceeded to business.—A number of reports from the committee of claims were read and ordered to lie on the table.

The bill making appropriations for carrying into effect certain Indian treaties, was read a third time and passed.

The bill to release capt. Barney from his imprisonment was read a third time. After a long debate the question on the final passage of the bill was taken by ayes and noes and carried—Ayes 60—Noes 50—The bill therefore passed.

The house resolved itself into committee of the whole on the pension bill—Mr. Macon in the chair.

The committee rose and reported the bill to the house with sundry amendments.—The bill was laid on the table.

On motion of Mr. Lyon, the house resolved itself into committee of the whole on the bill from the senate making an appropriation for trying experiments in torpedoism.

Mr. Livermore said he supposed this torpedo system was to be a substitute for the non-intercourse; if that was the case he should withdraw his opposition to it, as he should think five thousand dollars well laid out if it could relieve the nation from that destructive measure.

Mr. Quincy said that since the senate had thought this system worthy of a trial, he wished it might have a fair and effectual trial. He therefore moved to amend the bill by making it the duty of the secretary of war to oppose such obstacles to Mr. Fulton's experiments, as men skilful in naval affairs might think would be opposed in a state of actual hostility.

This amendment was lost.

Mr. Lyon proposed an amendment which directs the secretary of war to report to this house. This amendment was adopted.

Mr. Hale moved to amend by authorising the secretary of the navy to take on board the vessel on which the experiment is to be tried, a crew to defend the same, provided such crew should volunteer their services. This amendment was lost. The bill was reported to the house as amended.

The house proceeded to consider the bill.

Mr. Quincy renewed his motion for the amendment which he proposed in committee of the whole. The question was taken by ayes and noes and lost, ayes 45, noes 58.

The bill was ordered to a third reading this day—it was read immediately.

Mr. Dana rose to speak—but before he had proceeded far in his observations, a motion was made for adjournment and carried.

The bill appropriates $5000 to the torpedo experiments.

ORIGINAL FAMILY MEDICINES.

Prepared by RICHARD LEE & SON,

Have been in high estimation and general use throughout the United States, for upwards of ten years. And, it is no inconsiderable evidence of their utility, that during the above period, numerous imitations of every article, the productions of ignorance and experience, urged by envy and penury, have been intruded on the public, seen for a day, and then perished! Others now succeed them, which in like manner are fast descending to the tomb of the Capulets; while our remedies become more generally used, and acquire a daily accession of deserved celebrity.

Lee's Worm-destroying Lozenges.

This medicine is superior to any ver offered to the public, being innocent and mild certain and efficacious in its operations.—Should no worms exist in the body, it will without pain or griping, cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders.

Lee's Elixer.

A certain remedy for colds, coughs, asthmas, and particularly the whooping cough, so destructive to children.

Lee's Essence of Mustard,

So well known for the cure of rheumatisms, gout, palsy, sprains, &c. &c.

Lee's Grand Restorative,

Proved by long experience to be unequalled in the cure of nervous disorders, consumptions, lowness of spirits, inward weakness, &c.

Lee's Anti-Bilious Pills,

For the prevention and cure of bilious and malignant fevers.

Lee's Sovereign Ointment for the Itch,

Which is warranted an infallible remedy at one application.

Infallible Ague & Fever Drops,

For the cure of agues, remittent, and intermittent fevers.

Lee's Genuine Persian Lotion,

Celebrated for the cure of ring worms, tetters, &c.

Lee's Genuine Eye Water.

An effectual remedy for all diseases of the eyes.

Tooth-ache Drops.

Which give immediate relief.

Lee's Damask Lip Salve.

Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

The Anodyne Elixir,

For the cure of every kind of head-ache.

The Indian Vegetable Specific,

For the cure of venereal complaints

Those medicines having come into general use, they are frequently purchased not only by Druggists, but by country store keepers to sell again; in order that the purchasers may be confident they have the original genuine medicines; wherever they purchase they have but to observe, that every article of medicine has on the outward wrapper the signature of the proprietors.

Valuable Property for Sale.

I will sell the PLANTATION known by the name of MOUNT ARA, lying in the state of Virginia, immediately on the post road, about 9 miles from Alexandria. This farm contains upwards of seven hundred acres the soil is well adapted for wheat, corn or tobacco—there are on the farm two houses, one of which is a commodious dwelling with a good kitchen, and the other is a two story building 32 feet square, shingled and weather boarded but not finished inside, it is situated immediately on the post road and is an excellent stand for a tavern. Mr. Edgar M'Carty, of Cedar Grove, who resides near this property, will on application shew it to any person desirous of purchasing.

I will also sell that valuable property known by the name of McCarty's Island, in the Potomac river, about 20 miles above George-Town—this island contains upwards of three hundred acres, the soil is equal in quality to any land in the western country, and is surpassed by none for valuable timber for house and ship building, only about 30 acres are cleared. A further description is deemed unnecessary as it is presumed that any person wanting to purchase will view it. Mr. James Middleton, who lives near this island, will shew it on application. For the above described lands a great bargain will be sold on application to the subscriber residing in George Town.
